Message from Mayor Jon Post

Our community recently lost a remarkable leader and cherished friend. Mayor Honea's passion for Marana was the driving force behind everything he did. His love for this community was evident in every decision he made, in his commitment to improve the lives of our residents, and in his work to build a strong and thriving community. His leadership was grounded in a deep understanding of what makes Marana special, and his tireless efforts have left a lasting mark on our town's growth and progress.

It is both an honor and a privilege to continue serving this incredible town that Mayor Ed Honea loved so deeply and to carry on his legacy as we look to the future. Under his guidance, we achieved significant progress, from strengthening our infrastructure and expanding economic opportunities to fostering a sense of community that made Marana a place of pride for all. The vision he set for Marana, a place where residents and businesses can thrive together, will continue to guide us as we build on the solid foundation he established.

The Town of Marana remains focused in its commitment to fostering strategic growth that enhances the well-being of our community. We are dedicated to delivering the essential services that provide the quality of life our residents have come to expect, while also investing in initiatives that support economic growth, public safety, and community engagement.

With the support of our dedicated Town Council, I look forward to the work that lies before us, always with an eye toward building an even better Marana. Together, with the spirit of collaboration and dedication that Mayor Honea championed, we will ensure that Marana remains a place where all of us can take pride in calling home.

Message from Town Manager

Jerry Rozema

Marana is thriving.

As the fastest-growing community in Southern Arizona, our town continues to attract new families, businesses, and organizations. This growth is a testament not only to the appeal of our town but also to the hard work and vision of the individuals who have helped shape it into the vibrant community it is today.

As we grow, the town will remain committed to upholding the high quality of life that defines our community. The town's mission is clear: to provide five-star service to a thriving community. Whether it is improving infrastructure, strengthening public safety, supporting local businesses, or expanding community services, our team strives to address the needs of every corner of our community.

With growth inevitably come new challenges. By making strategic investments in critical areas such as transportation, water infrastructure, and recreation facilities, we hope to get ahead of our growing population's needs. These investments are designed to enhance the quality of life for all, now and in years to come.

One exciting milestone this year is the long-anticipated opening of the Marana Aquatic and Recreation Center (MARC). This state-of-the-art, 60,000-square-foot community center, alongside a 48,000-square-foot outdoor aquatic center, will offer an array of programs, events, and activities for residents of all ages. From fitness classes to family-friendly events, the MARC will provide a central hub for community engagement and wellness.

While we embrace progress, we also recognize the importance of balancing growth with the preservation of the unique qualities that make our town special. Our small-town charm, rich history, and strong sense of community are what set us apart, and we will ensure these values remain integral as we continue to evolve.

We are excited for the future and remain dedicated to providing five-star quality service to our thriving community. I invite each of you to join us in shaping the next chapter of our town's success.

New Section Now Open in Marana!

A highly anticipated new section of the Chuck Huckelberry Loop north of Avra Valley Road into the North Marana/Gladden Farms area is officially open to the public!

30,000 residents in North Marana are now connected to the entire 137-mile Chuck Huckelberry Loop trail system. This path is on the east bank of the Santa Cruz River, adjacent to the CalPortland Cement Plant.

“It really is a very significant connection in our regional plan,” said Marana Parks & Recreation Director Jim Conroy.

What is the “The Loop?”

The Chuck Huckelberry Loop is a 137-mile network of paved pathways and bike lanes that encircles Pima County, seamlessly connecting Marana, Oro Valley, and Tucson.

This shared-use trail system offers a unique way to experience Southern Arizona’s natural beauty.

The newest section allows users to park at North Sanders Road and the Santa Cruz River and enjoy a continuous 33-mile ride to West Valencia Road in Midvale Park or for a real challenge, ride the entire loop around Pima County.

For a convenient starting point, riders can begin their journey at Heritage River Park or Gladden Farms Park off Tangerine Farms Road. These locations offer essential amenities, including bathrooms and water stations.

The Marana section of the Loop takes visitors through breathtaking natural landscapes, including the serene El Rio Preserve in Southern Marana’s Continental Ranch neighborhood. Just off Twin Peaks Road, near I-10 and west of the Tucson Premium Outlets at Marana Center, this desert oasis features a lake and is home to over 250 bird species, making it a must-visit for nature enthusiasts. It’s also another spot for a bathroom break.

The Loop is designed for everyone, regardless of fitness level. Plan your ride or walk by mapping out convenient access points and tailoring the distance to your comfort level. Whether you’re looking for a quick outing or an extended adventure, the Loop provides endless opportunities for outdoor recreation.

Did You Know?

The Loop is named after Chuck Huckelberry, the former County Administrator whose vision and leadership made this expansive trail system a reality. Thanks to his dedication, Tucson and its surrounding communities enjoy one of the largest urban trail networks in the country.

- Sanders Road at the Santa Cruz River

Spirit of Marana

Northeast Marana/Dove Mountain

Hike It!

Start at the Wild Burro Trailhead near the Ritz-Carlton, Dove Mountain, where you'll find the Discover Marana: Hiked It and I Really Liked It mural by local artist Joshua Woodhall. Painted on the side of the restroom building, this Impressionist-style mural celebrates the beauty of the Tortolita Mountains. Don't forget to snap a selfie with the mural and tag @DiscoverMarana on social media!

From here, explore the trails or head to the Ritz-Carlton, Dove Mountain for a well-deserved lunch.

Family Fun at Tangerine Sky Park

For a relaxing picnic stop, visit Tangerine Sky Park to see Deer on Tangerine by Trevor O'Tool. This painted steel installation features a family of deer among native desert plants. Along the way, look for educational signs about local wildlife and a rare crested saguaro. In the spring, wildflowers often blanket the area.

The park also offers a playground and dog park, making it ideal for families.

Downtown and Northwest Marana

Public Art with a Ranching Flair

Marana's growing Downtown District features Spirit of Marana, another Trevor O'Tool installation. This piece depicts a cowboy, a horse, and desert elements like a saguaro cactus and a cow, honoring the town's ranching heritage.

Take a closer look at the installation by parking in the lot off Marana Main Street, where you can read its dedication plaque from the sidewalk. Nearby, grab a bite at Bisbee Breakfast Club or a coffee at Dutch Bros or Starbucks. For quick eats, head to the other side of Sandario Road to Taqueria Plaza's food truck or Snow Mountain Creamery, the secret ice cream shop inside R&R Pizza Express. You can also grab a beer at the dive bar, La Tumbleweed.

Extend your visit with a stop at Heritage River Park about 2.5 miles away, where you'll find the Man on the Horse statue, created by Marana High School students in 1994 and restored by town staff in 2022. At the park, you can take a walk and pose for pictures with the large water tower or windmill that makes this spot so unique. If you visit in October, chances are you'll see our blooming sunflower field. It's part of our Marana Fall Festival—a signature annual event.

As you head out for the day, check out the stunning mural inside the new Fry's Food Store at Tangerine and Lon Adams Road, created by Tucson artist Jessica Gonzales. This vibrant piece celebrates the beauty and culture of the Sonoran Desert taking inspiration from Arizona's iconic sunsets. The mural's themes of food, tradition, and connection to nature reflect the desert's enduring spirit.

Did you know the Fry's Marketplace in Northwest Marana is over 120,000 sq. ft.? It took approximately two years to build & employs 300 people.

Cycling or Walking Adventure

In Southern Marana, you can start your tour at the Crossroads at Silverbell District Park near Cortaro and Silverbell Road. There's plenty of parking, bathrooms and a dog park if you're traveling with your furry friend. The park itself is worth spending a few hours to learn more about the history and heritage of the Marana community. The site is an important archaeological and cultural spot and was once home to Indigenous people and later became a ranch in the 1800s. Look for signs to guide you to the interpretive panels to learn more about the remains of the house and other structures that are preserved on-site.

From here you can see Wondrous, by artist Joe O'Connell. It's a glistening stainless steel sculpture composed of a cloud of words located at the entrance of the Wheeler Taft Abnett Library. Spend some time soaking in all of the words before heading into the library to cool off on a hot day.

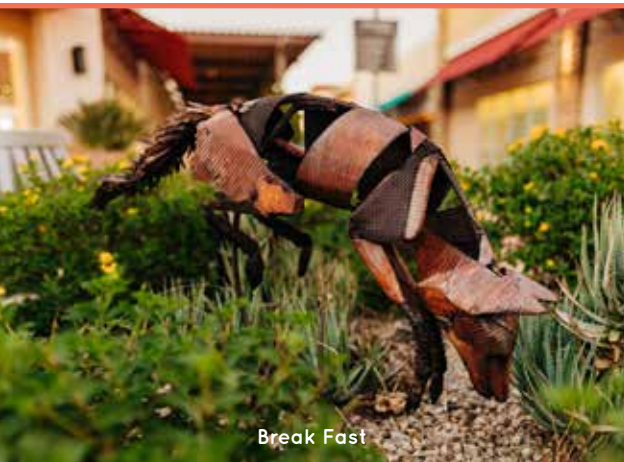

From here, ride or walk The Loop to see The Big Year by Trevor O'Tool and local students, located 1.5 miles away near the Amazon Distribution Center on Ina Road. Just remember you'll have to get back to the parking lot for a 3 mile round trip.

Marana's outdoor art collection continues to grow, with two new pieces set to debut in 2025.

Did You Know?

The Santa Catalina mountains that flank the east side of Tucson are home to the southernmost ski resort in the continental United States. Ski Valley allows desert-dwellers and visitors alike to enjoy a ski vacation with only an hour and a half drive! The skiing operation has 200 skiable acres with 21 runs. In the off-season, the ski resort uses its lift system to showcase the beautiful Catalina mountains to visitors all around.

Unrelenting heat, towering saguaros, sunny skies: these are all things you think of when you hear the word “desert.” And most of the time, that is what you will find when you come to Marana, Arizona. But every once in a while, something rare and magical happens. Snow. Yes, you read that right, SNOW in the desert! While it may not be the winter wonderland you see in movies, it is something special that few people get to experience.

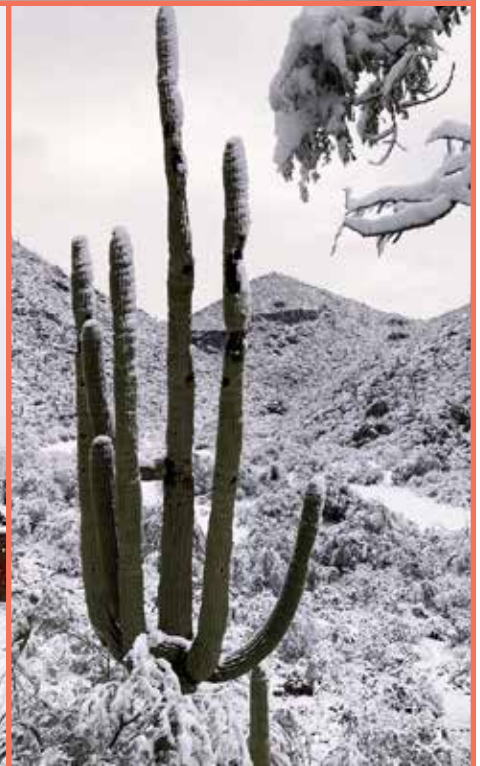

In an area like Southern Arizona with its varying elevations, accurate snow records are tricky to keep. All official weather readings for the area are recorded at Tucson International Airport, which has an elevation of 2,634 feet. Dove Mountain in Marana has an elevation between 2,700 feet and 4,300 feet, while Marana itself sits at 1,900 feet. While these elevation changes may not seem like a lot while driving in your car, when it comes to snow totals, it can be the difference between a rainy or snowy morning!

Over the years, several weather systems have brought snow to the valley floors. Most recently, on March 1 and 2, 2023, Tucson International Airport recorded 1 inch of snowfall. Earlier that year, on February 15, the airport recorded half an inch of snow. In February 2019, a storm brought 1.9 inches of snow to the valley, with much higher mountain totals. “Having grown up in Minnesota, snow is something I’m used to. But seeing snow covering the saguaros of Saguaro National Park and the surrounding mountains was like nothing I had ever experienced!” Marana resident David Schoonhoven said of the February 2019 snow event. “The city is electric. Everyone is excited! It’s a much different experience than where I grew up.”

While snow doesn’t happen often in the desert, it has left its mark on different events that come to Arizona during the winter to take advantage of its beautiful weather. The normal weather in the middle of February boasts highs in the upper 60s and lows in the mid-40s with an average of 0.84" of rain and 0.1" of snow throughout the month. In February 2013, the Accenture Match Play Championship golf game came to The Golf Club at Dove Mountain. On Wednesday, February 20th, two to four inches of fresh snow fell across the Dove Mountain area, covering the greens of The Golf Club in a blanket of white. Play was suspended just after 11 a.m. and did not resume until the following day. It was a sight to see and it made national news! This was not the first time snow had fallen during a golf event in Tucson. Just two years earlier a light dusting had fallen, but did not delay play.

Snow in Southern Arizona is a special occurrence that leaves its memory on everyone and everything around. The valley snow makes for beautiful photos, while our mountain snow feeds the plant and wildlife of Southern Arizona long after it melts.

Ray Ray's Sonoran Spirit Tea

At the center of the Ray Ray's Sonoran Spirit Tea logo is a mythical flower that the company's owner, Rachel D'Acquisto conceived of and drew by hand. She calls the flower the "Sonoran Rose" and says it represents a modern family crest with elements of where she came from and where she is going.

This personal involvement and attention to detail is deeply embedded in D'Acquisto's creative and business process.

Growing up in Marana, she would treat herself to the sweetened hibiscus drink Jamaica after her Mountain View High School soccer games. She used that joyful memory as part of the inspiration for her lightly carbonated hard tea brewed with a combination of hibiscus and black teas, organic agave, lemon, distilled watermelon extracts and distilled spirits.

Rachel (aka Ray Ray) knew she wanted to learn how to safely put a version of the signature cocktail that she had developed as a bartender into cans. She's a mom now and she didn't want to take too many unnecessary risks, so she was strategic about how she went about her process. Firstly, she joined Startup Tucson, a nonprofit supporting the growth of local entrepreneurs. From there, she was partnered with Steve Tracy who was retiring from Thunder Canyon Brewery, located in downtown Tucson. He became her mentor, and she still brews her hard tea in the same downtown space, now known as Brick Box Brewery.

Now she has come full circle and is able to give back to Marana as a business owner who helps other businesses grow by selling her hard tea in the community that she grew up in, including places like Casa Marana, La Tumbleweed Lounge, and the Old Father Inn.

Rachel's family shared most of their cultural history through food, and at the heart of D'Acquisto's process is a love of Sonoran regional ingredients as well as the "nuance of how folks with different backgrounds sort of take the same ingredient and reinvent it."

Rachel said, "My dedication to celebrating regional ingredients and what's from here stems in part from that. I was able to play a lot with regional ingredients and things that have been, they're not necessarily native here, but they do grow here, or they are growing here. So, playing with citrus or agave or things that are a little lesser known, is always really fun."

There is a growing trend of lighter alcoholic drinks in both calories and alcohol content. And with a 4.7% ABV, 100 calories, one gram of organic agave sugar, and only four carbs, Ray Ray's Sonoran Spirit Tea fits into that trend with ease. It's a little fizzy and a little bit carbonated, light, refreshing, balanced, and very versatile.

Even though it's in a can and it's ready to go, people still ask Rachel how to drink it. She says it can be as easy as a fun rim, "just pour it over ice, add a lemon, add a delicious rim and you got yourself your summer of love."

With that in mind, Jackie Alpers (the author of this article) developed these three easy cocktail recipes featuring Ray Ray's Sonoran Spirit Tea or any hard tea.

Jackie Alpers is the author of Taste of Tucson: Sonoran Style Recipes Inspired by the Rich Culture of Southern Arizona.

Marana Unified School District

Pathway to Excellence 2025

From Dan Streeter, Ed.D., Superintendent

As the community's K-12 school district, Marana Unified School District is proud to employ 1,940 teachers and staff serving 13,000 students across 20 campuses. As our community expands, so does MUSD! Marana USD is home to community preschools and Play & Learn (PAL) Preschool, 10 elementary schools, 2 middle schools, and this fall, we are expanding to 3 K-8s and 4 high schools!

Over the years, MUSD has remained committed to helping students reach their highest potential. Last fall, Marana schools celebrated receiving positive letter grade ratings from the Arizona Department of Education. We doubled the number of A-rated schools from 5 to 10 in one year, the most A-rated schools in our history. Our team implemented multi-tiered approaches to student learning, including a systemwide focus on literacy, increasing early childhood education opportunities, providing interventions for high-need areas, and increasing support for students' social-emotional needs.

We doubled the number of A-RATED SCHOOLS from 5 to 10 in one year...

Moving into 2025, we have incredible opportunities ahead. A new Personalized Learning High School Program at 8333 N. Silverbell will open, converting an urgent care facility into a modern high school campus focused on personalized learning and expanded CTE (Career and Technical Education) offerings. The program will eventually accommodate 400 students from Marana and Mountain View High Schools. Students will experience a smaller campus environment where they can dive deeper into topics of interest and enroll in courses in emerging fields, including health care, business management, marketing, cybersecurity, global communication, and more. Applications open in February.

Partnerships and people remain a priority. With the input of staff, teachers, parents, and leaders from across sectors in southern Arizona, the district launched its Strategic Goals planning process. Conversations focused on the knowledge, skills, characteristics, and abilities necessary for a graduate to be successful in college, career, military, and life. Additionally, with the passage of Proposition 411 from Marana voters, we will continue to offer full-day kindergarten, elementary and secondary school electives, access to counselors, and smaller class sizes. Funding will also be used to increase teacher and support staff salaries and wages, ensuring that we can recruit and retain the highest caliber teaching and support staff.

I am proud to serve as the superintendent of this dynamic and special district. Our efforts provide the foundation for an exceptional student experience and set us apart as a district of choice in Southern Arizona. Thank you for your continued support!
